Letter To The Editor

Late Monday Evening

Dr. Mr. Editor and

Readers of the Pine Cone:

Last week we proudly announced that this year's Conciertos en Carmel would feature the "American Premiere Performance" of Monteverdi's, "Magnificat, a sei vocu."

This announcement proceeded from careful research of major sources of musical information available to us, telephone calls to music editors in various parts of the country and letters to several conductors.

Convinced, in view of the unusual method in which we obtained the score (through the transcriptions from the British National Museum) and the responses of the editors and conductors whom we had contacted that we were fortunate enough to have a premiere, we joyfully released the news.

HOWEVER.... in two hours, earlier this evening, we watched our "primo" turn into "secundo."

Who robbed Carmel of the opportunity to boast this unique performance?

Well, frankly, we are embarrassed to tell you that no one did.

Our own Monterey Peninsula Choral Society premiered the "Magnificat" in 1967.

John Gosling, on a trip to Europe in 1967, was advised by a well-known musicologist at the Sorbonne University in France that Monteverdi had written this marvelous work and that a copy could be obtained in Germany. Being an enterprising conductor, Gosling traveled to Germany and brought home the score.

During the course of a conversation with Mrs. John Beahan, president of the Choral Society, in which we were expressing our great appreciation of the excellent concert they presented last Sunday, the subject of the "Magnificat" was brought-up.

Mrs. Beahan was delighted that we were going to do a Monteverdi "similar" to the one they had performed three years ago! Needless to say, the "similarity" of the work was quickly discovered to be a singularity.

If you are interested in hearing a wonderful performance of that "old war horse," the "Magnificat, a sei voci" by Monteverdi, we humbly invite you to the 2:15 or the 8:15 performance to be held at All-Saints' Church in Carmel on Dec. 28. Tickets may be obtained by telephoning 624-6737 or writing P.O. Box 5124, Carmel.

Even though it has been "used," it is still in good condition.

Hats off to the M.P. Choral Society!

THE HIDDEN VALLEY MUSIC SEMINARS

P.S.— Frankly, after the events of this evening, the only time we are absolutely positive it wasn't performed in America is between 1610 and 1620.

Studio to present 'Cactus Flower' with Suz Newall, Richard Klein in lead

Playing the leads in "Cactus Flower," the Abq Burrows comedy opening Friday at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel are Suz Newall as Stephanie and Richard Klein as Julian.

In the original production which ran three years on Broadway, Lauren Bacall originated the role of the frosty nurse who blossoms unexpectedly like the cactus. To this part Suz Newall brings previous experience in such shows as "Guys and Dolls," "Bells are Ringing," "Ernest In Love" and "Everybody Loves Opal."

Richard Klein has just finished playing Brindley Miller in "Black Comedy" at the Studio. In Julian he enacts another character whose elaborate scheming in the pursuit of romance explodes in his face. Currently at Fort Ord, Klein had four seasons of summer stock in the East.

Marianne Wagner (Toni) was Effie, the maid, in the comic duet "You Can't Make Love" in the Studio production of "Ernest In Love" last summer, while Richard E. Soden (Harvey) played Jacquot in "Carnival" the summer before.

Shirlet Swanger (Mrs. Durant) was Miss Fumival, the prim neighbor in "Black Comedy", having previously acted for theatre groups on various military posts. Roger Parkes (Igor) was the son-in-law in "Never Too Late" and later appeared in "Little Mary Sunshine" and "The Boy Friend."

Monica E. Brueni (Botticelli's Springtime) was in "Born Yesterday" at the Studio. Sanders Watkins (Senor Sanchez) is making his local stage debut.

Directed by Bill Asp, "Cactus Flower" will play at the Studio nightly from Friday through December 31, except the 24th and 25th. Following a gala New Year's Eve, the regular Friday, Saturday and Sunday schedule will resume through January. Reservations for dinner and show or show alone may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

Traffic film on cars, according to the National Automobile Club, is a combination of oil-laden exhaust fumes and ordinary dirt and dust.

Don't tempt car thieves, NATB warns

Christmas is a glad time of year. Even the crooks are happy!

The National Automobile Theft Bureau says this is especially true if you absent-mindedly leave Christmas packages on the seat of your car while you go shopping in still another store to complete your shopping list.

Even if you think you're going to be away from your car for "just a minute," you may find that was long enough for a dishonest caller to make off with your packages.

Leaving packages on the seat of a locked car is little help, the NATB warns, because a thief is usually able to open a car in less time than it takes to say "Santa Claus."

Put packages out of sight — stow them in the trunk of your car. That's the way to keep a Merry Christmas merry, and much less expensive!

Fabulous fashions

By Ruby Wilkinson

I RECENTLY read an article about memory. Memory, it said, is what enables you to remember a song called "As Time Goes By" but makes you forget the words after "You must remember this..."

A good place to remember when looking for the very latest in ladies' fashions is the little shop with the big reputation — the Rose Brown Shop, Carmel's unique hi-fashion ladies' shop. Here you'll find Bonnie Cashion individually designed coats and capes with matching jersey dresses; skirts, pants, blouses, edged in leather or suede, also in all leather and suedes; Modelia designs and the new look in great coats; suits and pants suits by Don Simonelli; fun-furred coats and suits in suede and leather. Also Battani, Sbicca and LaPiuma boots. Custom-made purses too. Come in soon. Browsers always welcome at the Rose Brown Shop, Carmel Plaza — "where you're a stranger only once."

CHRISTMAS AT THE SWEATER CORNER

The most delightful place in Carmel to shop for your Christmas needs. Easy parking is always available and our customers are always free to "browse" on their own. However, if help is needed, we at the Sweater Corner are always eager to offer courteous and intelligent service. We do urge you to visit us and see our fabulous selection of domestic and imported apparel for ladies and gentlemen. And don't forget — The Sweater Corner is headquarters for the famous Hand Knit Irish Fisherman Sweater.

OOOOH, LOOK WHAT I SEE! — The song goes "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus," and Maureen Connell shows the proper degree of shock and horror as she discovers Patti Bell kissing Santa. On closer inspection, however, Maureen discovered that Santa Claus was none other than her (ugh) brother, Tim Connell, dressed up for a part in the annual "Christmas Capers" production of the Carmel Youth Center. All three youngsters are members of the youth group.

CROSS RAISING — Notables from all religious faiths, civic leaders and plain citizens gathered last week to celebrate the reenactment of the raising of the cross on Monterey Bay in 1769. The cross, the work of Harry Downie, curator of the Carmel Mission, was raised and permanently implanted on the beach between the new Holiday Inn and Monterey Municipal Wharf No. 2.

Platinum, one of the most precious of the elements, has been used for making photographic prints since before 1773. It did not come into general use, however, until the early 1880's.

Into the modern times, Edward Weston utilized this process until 1924. By 1937, due to the high cost of platinum, in addition to the changing demands on the visual image produced by photography, the paper was discontinued by all manufacturers. The platinum photographic process is among the most permanent and stable of all photographic prints.

The Friends of Photography Gallery at San Carlos and 9th in Carmel invites the public to view this unique collection of fine photographs. Gallery hours are 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Monday.

Fishing in Norway

For more than a century, the legendary salmon rivers of Norway have been held on long-term leases, principally by British fishermen with a few American and French sportsmen on some waters.

The best rivers have therefore been closed to fishing except for families and friends, and access has been impossible for the steadily increasing number of salmon anglers.

This position began to change a few years ago, when Mytravel - an enterprising Norwegian travel organization - started to acquire fishing rights on the better rivers, and salmon fishing is now available to the general public on some of the most famous rivers in Norway.

Mytravel has been fully aware that first-rate salmon fishing is both declining and rare, and has taken every possible step to preserve the sport on the rivers it controls. The number of rods fishing some rivers have been reduced predators and poachers are being controlled, and strict fly-fishing rules enforced on the best waters.

First fishermen in the San Francisco area were the coast-dwelling Indians called Costanoans.

Every effort is being made to secure fly-fishing regulations on many Norwegian salmon rivers, although it should be understood that the perpetual snow melt and glacier water found in some watersheds make fly-fishing less effective.

Fishing rights on such rivers as Alta, LAerdal, Suldalslaagen, Driva, Aurland, STjoldal, Malangtossen and Lakeselv are available through Mytravel. Fishing on the picturesque Flaam is now also under its control, and offers good, early salmon fishing with an excellent run of sea trout in late summer. Mytravel will restrict its fishing to three rods, and expects the sport to Salmon flies are symbolic of the rich tradition of salmon fishing itself. The traditional patterns are largely British, Scottish and Irish in origin, and many are centuries old. Most include exotic feathers from all over the British empire, and their dressing are rigorously prescribed and followed as a matter of tradition.

'Light Up the Sky' is story behind stage productions

"Light Up The Sky", Moss Hart's Broadway hit comedy about show business, will open at Carmel's Circle Theatre on Friday, Dec. 19, as a presentation of the Community Theatre.

This is the laugh high which tells a behind-the-scenes story of what goes on when the greasepaint comes off.

Among the many new talented performers to be introduced to local little theatre enthusiasts for the first time is Jerry Van Steenberg, who has been cast as Carleton Fitzgerald, the hypersensitive, overly aesthetic director.

He is a graduate of the University of Washington, has played several seasons with the Seattle Repertory Playhouse and with the Washington State Theatre, the Santa Cruz Theatre, and

Studio Theater casting 'Seven Year Itch'

Auditions will be held Sunday Dec. 21 at 2:30 at the Studio Theatre, Dolores Street, Carmel, to select a cast for "The Seven Year Itch."

Well-known local actor and director Dick Vreeland has accepted the role of Richard Sherman, originated by Tom Ewell during the three year Broadway run, but parts are open for five women, two men and a child.

One woman, about 30, is Sherman's wife whose absence on vacation precipitates his bout with temptation in the form of a Marilyn Monroe type. The other three young women, appearing in Sherman's fantasies, are in their twenties.

Dr. Brubaker, an eccentric psychiatrist, and Tom MacKenzie, a hearty outdoor type, complete the men. As the child, either boy or girl, is meant to be only six years old, it would be desirable if one of its parents were also in the cast.

Under the direction of Bill Asp, "The Seven Year Itch" will go into rehearsal after Christmas, pointing toward a February 6 opening date.

Further information may be obtained at 624-1661 or 624-2321 and alternative times may be arranged for those unable to be present Sunday.

at Cabrillo College. Jerry was resident director for two seasons with the Tacoma Little Theatre, and has directed opera for the Seattle Civic Opera.

Loleta Shepherd, also making her local little theatre debut, has been cast as Stella, the assertive mother of the star and expert gin rummy player.

Another newcomer to the circle stage is industrial psychologist, Sally Kolitz. Sally, a member of the drama society at Vanderbilt University, will portray Frances Black, former ice skating idol now married to a rich and explosive impresario.

Johnny Clark, in his first appearance at the Circle, will play Peter Sloan, the naive and disillusioned young dramatist. Clark, who is production director at KDON, Salinas, holds a degree in broadcasting from Los Angeles City College. He has traveled with the Santa Barbara Repertory Theatre in productions of "Taming of the Shrew" and "Much Ado About Nothing."

Joyce Malikoff, who recently starred in the Circle's production of "The Owl and the Pussycat," returns for the second time this season as Irene Livingston, a raucous unpredictable leading lady. Mrs. Malikoff has delighted Circle audiences in such plays as "An Italian Straw Hat," "Luv," and as Bo-Peep in "The Mikado."

One of the most popular actors on the Peninsula little theatre scene is Ed Shinbrot, who has been cast as the arrogant and barking producer, Sidney Black. Ed is well known to local audiences for his comic interpretations. He was seen at the Circle last season in "When We Are Married."

The cast of "Light Up The Sky" also boasts the talents of veteran actor Rod Allison in the role of the successful playwright, Owen Turner; Linda Zimmerman as the secretary, Miss Lowell; Pete Hanson as the comic Mr. Gallagher, and Peter Walters as Tyler.

"Light Up The Sky," under the direction of Zelma Weinfield, will play Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m., and on Sundays one hour earlier at 7:30 p.m. through January 31.

Phone reservations are accepted by calling the theatre box office at 624-2669.

Movie Review

Charly — Winner of the Academy Award as the best actor, Cliff Robertson plays the role of Charly, a mentally retarded youth. A brain operation changes him into an adult confronted with new and serious problems. At the Grove.

Barbarella — Jane Fonda is a super-astronaut in the year 40,000 who charges about with a death-ray gun looking for a misfit she had been assigned to kill. She makes lots of love, but does little killing. At the Hill.

Yellow Submarine — On a peaceful day in the happy kingdom of Pepperland a concert by Sgt. Pepper's band is interrupted by an anti-music miccile attack by the Blue Meanies. Stunning visual effects and great music by the Beatles. At the Valley Cinema.

Chitty Chitty Bang Bang — A musical fantasy based on a story by Ian Fleming of James Bond fame. Dick Van Dyke is a zany inventor who remodels an old racing car into an impossible thing. At the Valley Cinema.

Young Billy Young — Robert Mitchum cleans up a wild town and Angie Dickinson feels the push of his broom. Robert Walker plays the title role. At the Village Theatre in Carmel.

Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid — Paul Newman and Robert Redford are western outlaws whose day has passed. A comedy of anticlimaxes with superb photography, a folk-tale touch and a violent conclusion. At the Village in Carmel.

Easy Rider — Latest motorcycle epic stars Peter Fonda and Dennis Hopper as hip-types in search of America. Aspects involving drugs and sex and long emphasis on traveling sequences make much of the ballyhoo that has greeted this film. At the Regency.

Alice's Restaurant — Episodic, loosely structured parable of the confrontation between generations. One of the surprise hits of the season. Great social accuracy in the film's theme. At the Golden Bough.

Ring of Bright Water — Bill Travers is a London Civil Servant anxious to escape the ratrace to write. The plot is the comic account of the trials and triumphs of trying to raise an otter, which makes an enchanting film. At the Grove.

Inga — Swedish. Sexy. Nudity. Money maker. Story of a young Swedish girl's introduction to a philosophy of free sexual indulgence. At the Hill.

"Christmas in Old Spain"

As we will be steeped in Spanish customs during the bicentennial year on the Monterey Peninsula, we'll pattern our Christmas festivities after true Spanish tradition.

Luckily in Spain, no amount of tourism can detract from their old world Noche Buena celebration. The large happy Spanish familia we visited in Madrid included a multitude of relatives. These all joined in the procession to midnight mass, returning together for the fiesta which followed.

For days elaborate preparations had been in progress for the cena de Navidad (supper of Nativity). Midnight is called misa de gallos (mass of the cocks) since this fanfare awakens the roosters.

After church services we sang our way, arm and arm, back to supper. On the ancient refectory table stood mellow cathedral tapers. Lush fruits and flowers reflected the flickering lights. Turkeys, hams, a bronzed suckling piglet, seafood and famous paella, salads, Christmas breads and of course, sweets.

Eagerly enjoyed also were almond horchata, plus thick spiced hot chocolate for the children with wines for the rest of us. The classic dishes of Spain may change from province to province. From Andalusia to the Bay of Biscay, from Cadiz on the curving coast of the Mediterranean to Barcelona, there is a wealth of savory food.

Long ago gypsies wandered from Castile into southern Spain. The hills of Granada are today honeycombed with ancient caverns. In these dim recesses, the light of Christmas also blazes.

Starting on Holy Night and continuing through Los Tres Reyes (The Three Kings on January sixth) great ashwood fires are lit in the caves. Barrels of raw red wine are tapped and castanets resound with a soft buttery echo from the wood of chestnut trees.

As the gitanos wind into Madrid, so do their Christmas customs. Red wine, cakes and confections are mutually enjoyed by native Madridenos and wandering gypsies, with a smattering of turistas joining in. It is a colorful, cheery sight and one which may be duplicated in our area since we have the costumes, the music and the readily available food.

The following dishes are authentically old Spanish plus a blend of Hispano-Americano.. or shall we say Old Monterey (minus the chili powder not used in Spain).

Empanadillas

The mixed fillings that can go into these little Spanish fried turnovers are almost unending. As an appetizer, use tuna or cooked ground round with sliced pimiento-olives, raisins, minced onion and garlic and season to taste. For the pastry use the packaged prepared kind in our markets. Roll dough into 1/8-inch thickness. Cut into 3-inch circles. Fill with prepared filling. Dampen edges lightly with water and fold one-half over the other to form a half-moon shape. Press edges firmly together with fork to seal. Fry in deep hot fat (not too many at a time) until golden brown. Remove and drain on paper towels. Serve hot. These may be made ahead and frozen, then fried shortly before serving and kept hot in a moderate oven. Very popular.

Almond Horchata

sliced packaged blanched almonds through fine blade of food grinder, then into electric blender with 4 times their bulk in water. Whirl until smooth, strain and mix with powdered sugar to taste.

Sangria

One qt. red table wine; 4 cups ice, chopped; lemon, thinly sliced.

Serve in tall glasses with a slice of lemon in each. This is a serve-it-yourself process from a pitcher. You could also make it in a punch bowl and serve it into crystal or other cups.

Claret Cup

Simmer one 15 oz. box of seedless raisins in 1 qt. water for 30 min. Strain, add 1/2 lb. sugar, 2 sticks cinnamon and the grated rind of 1 lemon. Boil 10 min. Strain. When cool, add juice of 3 lemons, 6 oranges and 1 qt. claret. Serve from bowl with cracked ice into punch cups. Makes 24 cups.

Caldo Bueno

This is known as "good-for-you-broth" and sustaining for an all night fiesta. Make a strong beef broth or use canned bouillon. Add 1 T. tepid water to 1 T. white cornmeal. Make into a paste. Thicken broth (1 T. cornmeal paste to 2 cups strong broth.) Stir well and

Dec. 18, 1969

The Carmel Pine Cone-Cymbal 11

serve with boiled okra rings floating on top of each cupful. Season to taste. If extra strength seems in the offing, this "one-for-the-road" can be fortified by adding whipped eggs to boiling broth.

Gazpacho

Actually like a soup-salad, this tonic combination is made by mixing raw chopped green onions, garlic, tomatoes and green peppers. Put through sieve or into electric blender. Season resulting puree with salt, pepper and paprika. Add 2 T. olive oil and 1 T. wine vinegar to each 2 cups puree. Serve in crystal cups (because the color is so Christmas-like). Add 1 ice cube to each cup. Have a dish of unpeeled cucumber rings on hand for each to top his/her cup with same. Minus the ice cubes, but well chilled, this is delicious served on lettuce leaves as a rather moist salad.

Paella Valenciana

Eight chicken breasts and thighs, each; 1 cup chopped onions; 2 garlic cloves, minced; 1/2 cup olive oil; 2 cups long grain white rice; oregano, tarragon; saffron; salt; 4 chorizos (Spanish sausages); 1 pkg. frozen green peas or 1 can petit pois; 1 cup cooked shrimp; canned mussels or little neck clams; pimiento, artichoke hearts, chopped parsley.

Remove bones from chicken breasts; cut in two, if large; add onions and garlic to a small amount of olive oil in separate skillet; brown chicken breasts and thighs in large earthen dish; season, add onions and garlic with oil, then the rice. Stir until rice is coated; cover with water mixed with chicken bouillon cubes.

Put on tight lid and simmer until chicken is cooked through and rice grains separated. Add sliced chorizos, peas, shrimp, mussels in their shells and/or clams also in shells. Save a few of these tid-bits as decoration on top with sliced canned pimiento, artichoke hearts and parsley.

Be sure it is all well heated through, and to maintain the right temperature, serve from electric server at table. This is all a buffet anyway and lasts indefinitely since in Spain and Latin-America, the host locks the doors and throws the keys out of the windows to show true hospitality. Prepare a lot if you feel Spanish.

Suspiros

(Spanish sighs)

Three egg yolks, well beaten; 1 cup sugar; pinch salt; 1 cup blanched almonds, ground; about 2 T. lemon juice; 3 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Preheat oven to 350 F. Add sugar and salt to egg yolks. Beat well. Stir in almonds. Add lemon juice and stir well. Fold in egg whites, then into small paper baking cups. Bake for 20 min. until done but light. Makes about 12 tartlets.

'CARE' package is ideal gift

"Since it is typically during the Holiday Season that we remember our friends everywhere, we feel this is a particularly appropriate time to ask fellow Americans to also remember the millions of needy men, women, and children in less developed countries overseas," Miss MoHy Farmin, Regional Director of CARE, commented.

"To the countless people who will receive help as a result of the CARE Food Crusade, a CARE package is the best holiday gift they can imagine," she said.

Miss Farmin stated that CARE's goal is to feed some 35 million people in 36 different countries this year. This food will enable young minds to stay alert in school so that they can learn to help themselves. It will also give their parents the strength to better their present living situation.

Christmas contributions may be sent to the CARE Food Crusade, 444 Market Street, San Francisco, California 94111.

Registration fee for Cal Poly up $10 Feb. 2

Students seeking to enroll at California State Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo after Feb. 2, will have to pay an application fee of $20.

An increase of $10 over the present fee was approved by Trustees of the California State Colleges at their Nov. 25 meeting. The new fee becomes effective Feb. 3 at all 19 state colleges.

Holley said that all applicants for admission to Cal Poly for the Fall Quarter, 1970-71, and succeeding quarters, will be required to pay the $20 application fee if their applications are submitted after Feb. 2.

He pointed out that Fall Quarter applications filed on or before Feb. 2, 1970, will be received with the $10 fee.

Not included in the quarters covered by the increased fee, according to Holley, are applications for admission to Cal Poly's forthcoming Spring, 1970 and Summer, 1970 Quarters. They will also be received with the $10 fee.

The new PG&E department will have responsibility for long-range gas supply evaluation, feasibility studies and gas purchase.

PG&E's natural gas needs have grown steadily over the years to a present average daily consumption of more than 2.3 billion cubic feet and a 24-hour peak day sendout record of 3.4 billion cubic feet.

Vigorous performance, liveliness and ease of control are typical BMW features. There is no reason why you should sacrifice them when you buy a larger car with an increased claim in safety, comfort and elegance of equipment.

In the new BMW we have combined outstanding road performance with exceptionally comprehensive equipment and an outstanding degree of travel luxury. The BMW is dynamic, manoeuvrable, easy to handle and control. Its dimensions suit the needs of today's traffic conditions, with a carefully balanced relationship between power output and size. Carmel Lions Club

The 20th annual "Christmas Capers," thespian production of the Carmel Youth Center will have its gala opening night on Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at Sunset Center.

It will conclude its brilliant, fantastically successful run the next night, same time, same place.

Every year the members of the Youth Center put on the variety show as a gift to the children of the community, who, along with their parents, are invited without charge.

(A small donation is invited, which, of course, is tax deductible.)

This year's show is being co-directed by Patti Bell and Maureen Connell.

Music and sound is provided by Jack Belangee, of Carmel. Rudy Lamar is responsible for the lighting, and Cathy DeAmaral is the hostess and did the decorations for the show.

Everyone, young and old, is welcome, free.

The Youth Center wishes to thank the Carmel Lions Club for the candy that will be on hand for both performances.

Moyers scores press for accenting 'bad' news and burying good; cites Pope's support of Nixon's Vietnam policies

(Editor's Note: The controversy raging over the news media deliberately "managing" the news is occupying the attention of the American people. The following article appeared in "The Observer," the newspaper of the Catholic Diocese of Monterey. We are reprinting it in full, since it does express a view of what is going on in newspapers, television and radio today. We agree at least with the statement by Bill Moyers that "...there is a compelling quality about bad news....")

The Pine Cone, being a weekly newspaper, deliberately seeks out "good" news to print, since other media and other newspapers carry a fully sufficient amount of bad news.)

Bill Moyers, former aide to President Lyndon Johnson and now a prominent newspaper publisher, has criticized the daily press for having "either ignored... or buried" Pope Paul VI's defense of President Nixon's Vietnam policy.

Moyers' comments, in a signed editorial in Long Island's "Newsday," came shortly after Vice President Spiro Agnew attacked "The New York Times" for playing that story "on page 11", but Moyer's commentary also revealed the great amount of import given by the White House to Papal pronouncements.

"I know what such an endorsement would have meant to President Johnson," Moyers wrote of Pope Paul's statement concerning Nixon's handling of the Vietnam war. "He (Johnson) hoped for, and sometimes his emissaries even lobbied for, such benevolent statements from the Vatican.

Occasionally, they were forthcoming, as when the President would call a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam, but I do not recall that they were ever as strong as what the Pope said (about Nixon's conduct of the war)."

Moyers recalled that on some occasions "the Pope would issue a statement that seemed critical of Mr.

Johnson's Vietnam policies and it would wind up on page one. I have no doubt that this would have happened...if the Pope, instead of calling Mr. Nixon's policy 'well mediated and responsible' had denounced the President."

The young publisher said there was more than a question of "news judgment" involved in the way the nation's daily press played the Pope's comments on President Nixon and the Vietnam war.

"There is a compelling quality about 'bad' news - news of conflict and dissent - that is often missing in 'good news,'" Moyers wrote. (emphasis ours).

"Even so," he went on, "the Pope's statement was important, and deserved better than it got. For while he recognized the 'widespread manifestation' of this country's desire to end the war, he also expressed the opinion that 'the right mode of ending the conflict' demands a procedure that does not violate this nation's 'international obligations'.

'39 Craftsmen' is financial, social success

Another successful fund raising event for the Fine Arts and Crafts Festival. There were an estimate 1000 people attending the Wine and Wild Boar Preview at the La Playa Friday night.

The show and sale of crafts was produced by more than 39 craftsmen mostly local and from Monterey County and as far north as Albany.

The pre-holiday festivities continued for the rest of the weekend both afternoon and evenings. Four large rooms were used for the display of many different kinds of arts and crafts) leather, stuffed dolls, glass bowls, weaving, cartoons, photographs, pottery, metal work, and jewelry.

The "39 Craftsmen Bring

Christmas" event again was so successful in creating a marketplace for artists, and raising funds for the non-profit organization Fine Arts and Crafts Festival that it will be sure to be part of Carmel's heritage.

Already the group is planning the third 39 Craftsmen event and planning its activities for the Bicentennial.

MPMA sets watercolorist Kingman for opening exhibit

Although the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art will not officially open until February of 1970, a special exhibition has been arranged for December in the completed portion of the building.

In the main gallery will be a one-man show by the world-famous Chinese-American watercolorist, Dong Kingman. The balcony gallery will feature the 7th Annual Invitational Photography Show.

Dong Kingman, although born in Oakland, was raised in Hong Kong. He returned to the Bay Area in his teens and held a variety of jobs - from houseboy to restaurant owner - before his talents were discovered and he was able to establish himself as a successful artist.

Today, his delicately tinted watercolors adorn the permanent collections of more than 30 museums and art galleries in the United States and hang in numerous private collections both here and abroad.

Kingman travels a great deal and always has his sketchbook in hand. Covers

UCB checks

Christmas Club checks totaling $8.5 million have been mailed out by United California Bank to club members throughout California.

Christmas Club accounts for 1970 are now being opened by the bank, and members enrolling for next year's club are eligible to purchase a long-playing album of Christmas music at a special low price, bank officials said.

for magazines, illustrations for children's books and murals at the Hilton Hotel in New York and the giant three-wall San Francisco skyline for the new Bank of California building are all part of his productive efforts. Perhaps his most-seen work was the series of title paintings of Chinatown used in the movie "Flower Drum Song."

This will be the first Kingman exhibit on the Monterey Peninsula and the nucleus will be recent works he has sent from his present home in New York. However, these will be supplemented by earlier works on loan from many Bay Area collections.

Kingman regrets that he will be unable to visit the Monterey Peninsula during his exhibition, but he is currently in Hongkong serving as Executive Production Designer for a new Burgess Meredith - James Mason film. Arrangements for the exhibit have been made through the cooperation of Herbert Hoover of the Hoover Gallery in San Francisco and the California Art Commission.

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art is located at 559 Pacific Street, Monterey, directly across from Colton Hall. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and 2-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The Museum is closed on Mondays and holidays.

Both exhibits will be on display from Dec. 10 through 28.

Serra signature in iron graces historian's house

Shining brightly on the facade of "Carmel Light," the home of Edward T. Planer at 13th and Monte Verde Streets, is a recently completed metal-sculptured plaque created by Irene Lagorio, versatile Carmel artist.

Planer, who is well-known as a writer and lecturer on the history of early California, commissioned the artist to create a metal sculpture of historical interest in keeping with the traditions of the Carmel area.

Planer has often mused about the many paths taken by Father Junipero Serra on his journeys from the Carmel Mission to Monterey. "Who can deny that Serra did not cross this very spot," said Planer one day to Miss Lagorio as he pointed to his home on the southeast corner of the Carmel intersection.

It was the historian's question that provided the motivation for a design that combined history and art.

Using the documented rubric signature of Father

Serra as a basis for her design, the artist created a wall relief of a welded steel and bronze which combines the signature and a golden sunburst representing Serra's path in the sun while establishing the California missions.

In addition to reflecting Planer's personal interests, the Serra Plaque is unique as a local gesture in observance of Monterey's Bicentennial.

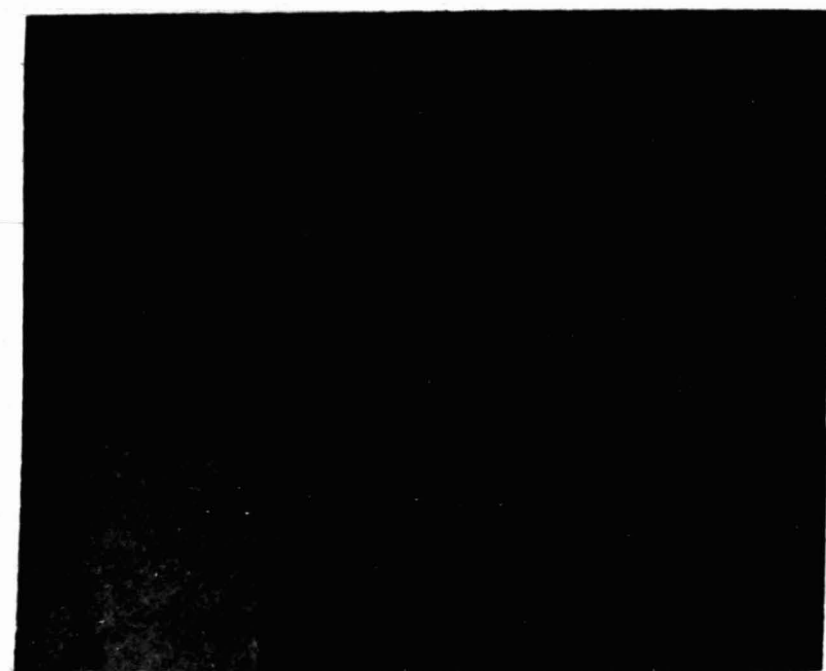

Recently retired from the educational field, Planer is now a permanent resident of Carmel and active in the areas of conservation, history, and as a patron of the arts.

He is secretary of the Pacific Coast Chapter of the Railroad and Locomotive Historical Society, and an honorary life member of the National Railroad and Locomotive Historical Society. He recently returned from a three-week trip to Europe examining railroad facilities and touring transportation museums of Switzerland and Italy.

PRETTY KITTY—I'd be a purrrfect pet, don't you think? I'm soft and furry and warm and cuddly, waiting for you to take me home for Christmas. I'm right here at the SPCA Shelter on the Salinas-Monterey Highway opposite the Leguna Seca racetrack. Better come quickly or I may be spending Christmas with some other family. Virginia Kaye took this charming picture and as a result I'm sure to be adopted soon. But you still may be in luck if you call 373-2631 and claim me first. Virginia Kaye photo

HISTORIC SIGNATURE — Edward T. Planer, California historian, examines the Father Serra metal plaque created by Monterey-Peninsula artist Irene Lagorio for the facade of his Carmel home. The plaque is a rendering of Father Serra's signature.

PATH OF HISTORY — The wrought iron signature of Father Junipero Serra, having been installed on the facade of "Carmel Light," the artist, Irene Lagorio, and the owner of the house, Edward T. Planer, relax to discuss the possibility that the Good Padre actually crossed the Planer property on his way from the Carmel Mission to Monterey.

Christmas presents by astrology

by Jewel White

Most of us know pretty well what our loved ones and family members really want for Christmas gifts.

But can we be sure to select the proper one for that new friend or business associate, or anyone else we wish to please?

Putting Astrology to work for you is the basic reason for it's far-flung study. Let's see what suggestions Astrology has for selecting the proper gift to really be cherished by each sign:

Aquarius — Must be of best quality whatever. They like the latest invention gadgets. Good jewelry and perfume for the ladies. Let the saleslady select the perfume if you are in doubt. Good books on latest personalities, especially of the theatre. Tickets to new shows for both. Objects that are handy when flying or traveling for the men also books and magazines on inventions. Not colognes and not ties.

Pisces — Ladies love all of the things the sea offers, like objects made of Mother-of-pearl, or of sea-shells. And especially pearls in any form. Also fluffy things and fancy soaps. Scents of all sorts.

The men for fishing equipment and books dealing with his hobby, also books on the occult please them. Most colognes but not ties or clothes.

Aries — Ladies like better perfumes and perfumed candles. Also silvered objects and hand-painted dishes, etc. For the men, tools, gadgets, Things to further their hobbies (photography, stamp collections, even hunting) but seldom fishing.

Taurus — All things that are beautiful for the ladies. Costume jewelry and objects, oil paintings, fashion magazines and all imported foods (tho she may be watching her appetite). The men usually are musically inclined and cherish new record albums, better magazines on musical artists and theatre tickets to same. Be sure the card is original and clever as well.

Gemini — It must stimulate the intellect: books, fine stationery, clever book-marks. For the ladies, gloves (if you know the color and size jewelry, rings of distinction, etc. Or, better yet, a gift-certificate from the best store in town. They will adore you for your thoughtfulness.

Cancer — For both any fine gift for the home. Recipe books, new and unusual spices or teas from foreign shores. All tasty things such as fine chocolates, baskets of fruits or nuts, and articles to use in all traveling. How now, some fancy liquors.

Leo — Call it Dramatic and Leo will love it. Gold that glitters, like cuff-links, charms, ear-rings, tie pins, etc. Gold stamped leather goods, billfolds (engraved, of course) Perfume that is bottled in fancy packaging, fancy gold house-slippers, gold pencils, etc. And best of all... gilt-encrusted china or glassware.

Virgo — Practical gifts are best. New time-saving gadgets that really hold up. Books on herbs, diets, nursing care, etc. Encyclopedias of a newest issue. The ladies prefer to select their own perfumes and jewelry. Why not a gift-certificate for a prominent department store where she can please herself. He will too.

Libra — It must be beautiful...and fancy. Fine silks, kimonas, hand-carved leather goods, cloisonne dishes and figurines. Especially art icons found in Orient shops. Imported perfumes, etc. Even satin sheets. Be sure the gift is exquisitely wrapped.

Scorpio — The ladies especially like all occult symbols, like zodiacal signs on jewelry, key-rings, pins, etc. Also books dealing with these subjects. Men may like the same on rings, desk ornaments, etc. Both would like books on mysteries and detective stores.

Sagittarius — Anything for sports will appeal. Especially for skiing, hiking, tennis, golf and all outdoor sports. Even travel maps and guides for hunting and fishing trips. Novel costume jewelry, gloves, leather goods, fine picture albums.

Capricorn — They love antiques but the usable kind. Not rickety chairs or an item just because it is old. Fancy clocks appeal. Also good books of adventure stories, atlases, whodunits and special rocks and books describing minerals. Pottery and glassware. Let them select their own perfumes and jewelry. Why not a gift-certificate?

GOLF WINNER — Shelley Hamlin of Fresno is the 1969 California Women's Amateur Golf Champion. She defeated Noni Schneider of Sacramento 4 and 2 Saturday, Dec. 6. This 3rd Annual Championship was played over the Pebble Beach Golf Links.

Prairie dogs control the vegetation surrounding their cities by encouraging food-bearing weeds and destroying grasses which act as cover for predators.

Supervisors OK Spanish Bay zoning

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors has upheld the zoning of a 60 acre beach site within Del Monte Forest as the first step in the planned construction of a new hotel and golf course there.

The proposed 500 unit luxury hotel and 18 hole championship golf course will be located north of the present Monterey Peninsula Country Club courses and will front Spanish Bay at the Pacific Grove entrance to the forest.

Zoning for the development had received the prior approval of the Monterey County Planning Commission. In concurring, the Supervisors endorsed the Planning Commission's recommendation.

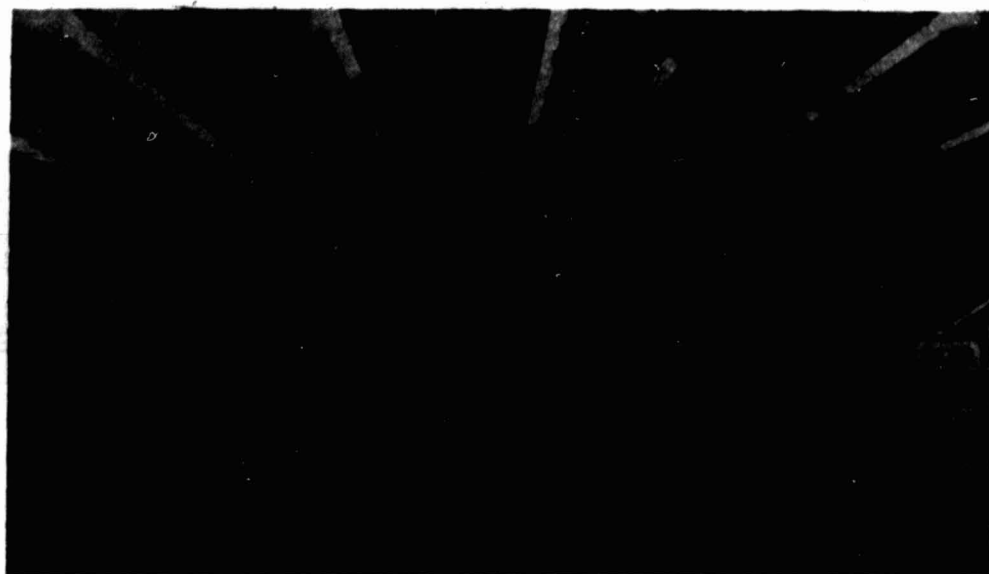

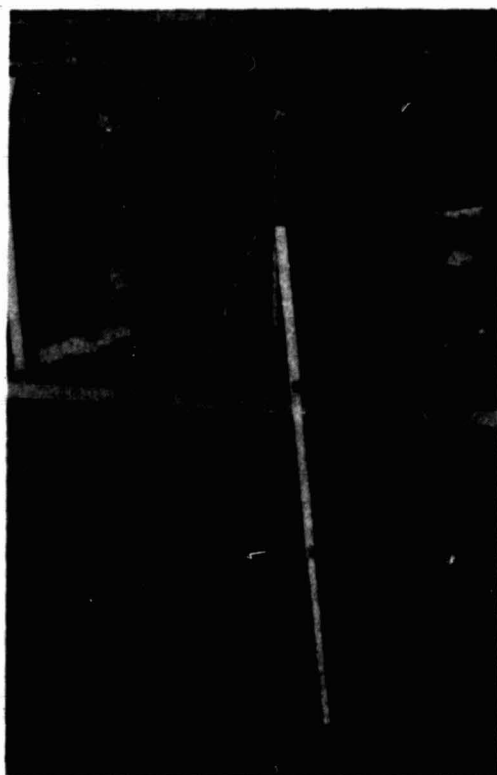

The new project is the latest in a series of moves by Del Monte Properties Company for the development of its lands within the Forest on a long-term lease hold basis.

In addition to the new golf links, the Company is the owner-operator of the Pebble Beach and Spyglass Hill golf courses, and Del Monte Lodge.

Carmel basketball champs drop opener to Monterey

By Hal Gann

Carmel's M-T-A-L championship varsity basketball team was turned back by Monterey, 66-64, last Friday evening on the Toreadore home court.

It was a thrilling game, as the lead changed hands eight times and it was tied at least a dozen times. Padre Coach Dick Charles thought the officiating definitely favored Monterey, a traveling charge erased Mark Spindler's tying basket the final seconds being one of several "bad calls" according to the new mentor.

(Next Padre Sportcast is against Leigh of Santa Clara County — a Friday evening tilt to be played here; and rebroadcast by KRSA-FM, 100.7, at 6:30 Saturday evening.)

Pete Shaw's timely rebounding and Spindler's all-around court hustle almost pulled it out for the Padres, their changing into a man-for-man press from the zone coming with about two minutes to go, a little bit too late for it to be adequately effective.

The 'Dores piled up a seven point lead with 2:45 remaining, at which time their stellar center, Nate Carroll, fouled out of the game. Carroll collected important rebounds and hit well from outside to register high point laurels with 24.

His opposing counterpoint, Sahw, finished with 17, Spindler hitting on drives down the lane for 14. Jeff Canepa came up with 15 Carmel tallies, while Jim Conlan, hitting eight of eight free throws, notched 12.

Steve Taylor, fresh from a successful visit to Stanford Hospital for his pinched neck nerve, scored six.

The Padres jumped to leads of 6-1 and 11-3, but Monterey was able to overload the zone, Carroll gunning in long one-hand jumpers, and two little substitutes — Frank Shield and Norvel Clark (both Juniors) each hitting two pressure buckets for the winners.

Without the services of the great Bruce Winkler — graduated senior from last season's championship team — Carmel this year definitely has a good chance to repeat as league victor — actually flooring a starting five with more overall balance.

Seniors Shaw (6-4) and Canepa (6-3) should grab more than their share of rebounds, Junior Jim Conlan's sharp shooting from the outside will start finding its mark, and the all court aggressiveness and superb stamina of Seniors Spindler and Taylor will take their toll on opponents.

Palma, Hollister, and King City, however, will be tough in league competition, and certainly the campaign, which commences in January, is going to be very interesting.

In a preliminary game, Carmel's Junior Varsity bowed to Monterey, 52-36.

Reading for Circle Theater's 'The Crucible' Dec. 21

Readings for Arthur Miller's award winning play, "The Crucible," will be held Sunday, Dec. 21 at 2 p.m., and again on Monday, Dec. 22 at 7:30 p.m., at the Circle Theatre, Carmel.

A large cast, including young women between the ages of 15 and 20, and excellent character roles for adult men and women of all ages, is required. No role has been pre-cast. The play will go into rehearsal on Jan. 5, with an opening date set for Feb. 6. The Director is Michael Keller.

"The Crucible" received the Antoinette Perry award, and was the runner-up in the New York Drama Critics Circle balloting to select the best new American play. Distinguished playwright Miller has also won "Tony" awards for "All My Sons" and "Death of a Salesman."

The plot of "The Crucible" explains how small lies, children's lies, build until a whole town is aroused and 19 men and women go to the gallows for being possessed of the Devil. This exciting drama about the Puritan purge of witchcraft in old Salem of 1692 is a combination historical play and a timely parable about certain immediate parallel issues in our own contemporary society.

Mission San Antonio to hold unique torchlight parade

Mission San Antonio, near the town of Jolon, will once again be the setting for a unique Christmas observance on Wednesday, Dec. 24.

The Old Mission, which has preserved much of the Christmas Eve services and testimonies

The 1969 calendar brings about a coincidence of Christmas Eve with the regular Wednesday night testimony meetings held in all Christian Science churches throughout the world.

In an article titled "What Christmas Means to Me" written for the Ladies Home Journal, Mary Baker Eddy, the Founder of Christian Science, wrote: "I love to observe Christmas in quietude, humility, benevolence, charity, letting good will towards man, eloquent silence, prayer, and praise express my conception of Truth's appearing."

All are welcome at 8 p.m. in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel, California.

The one-hour meeting will open at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be conducted by Arthur Parter.

peace and beauty of its earliest days, will be illumined by flickering torchlights as visitors from far and near join with costumed shepherds in a torchlight procession through the mission arches and gardens to the entrance of the historic church.

There the participants will pause before a traditional Nativity Crib with life-size figures of the Holy Family and living animals. There an ancient ceremony, the Blessing of the Crib, will take place before the participants enter the Old Mission Church for the Christmas Midnight Mass in which all will raise their voices in songs of praise and thanksgiving.

The annual event — which attracts persons of all faiths — is all the more inspiring because the Old Mission San Antonio has retained much of the peace and beauty of early California days.

Those of all faiths are invited to attend and participate in the torchlight procession, which begins at 11:30 p.m., and in the Midnight Mass.

The Old Mission is reached from the north by Highway 101, turning west on Jolon Road above King City; and from the south by Highway 101 to a turn-off above Bradley.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

Bible Lesson "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question constitutes the subject of next Sunday's Christian Science Lesson-Sermon. The lesson contains this verse from Revelation: "We give thee thanks, O Lord God Almighty, which art, and wast, and art to come; because thou hast taken to thee thy great power, and hast reigned."

Services, which are open to the public, begin at 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. in First Church of Christ Scientist, 6th and Monte Verde in Carmel.

A related passage from the denominational textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "The central fact of the Bible is the superiority of spiritual over physical power."

Christian Science Radio Program

A Christmas program will be broadcast next Sunday on the Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You." Station KRML will carry this program called "The Christmas Message and Today's World," at 7:45.

Let's face it: this winter hasn't been so hot.

That's why your PG&E bill may leave you a little cold.

Your winter PG&E bills are bound to be bigger because they stand for more:

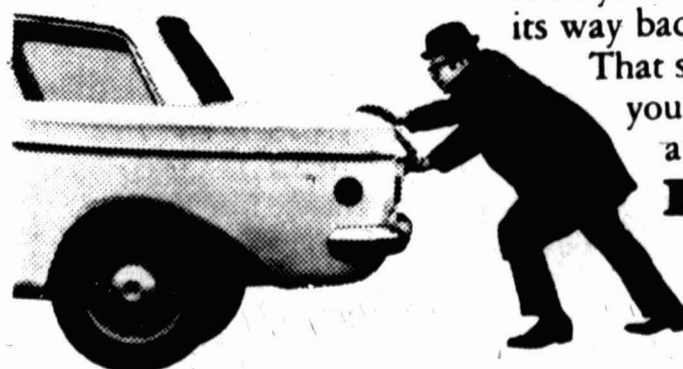

More days and nights with the thermostat turned up. More lights (and burning longer). More hot meals. More TV watching and stereo. More of just about all the wintertime comforts of home. But remember, spring is not far behind.

Then your bill will be on its way back down.

That should make you feel warm all over.

The Christmas season was joyously and auspiciously ushered in with a superb concert given by the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society and a 23-piece orchestra with Haymo Taeuber, conductor and Music Director Saturday night at the Carmel Mission Basilica. The program was repeated Sunday night.

This little town of Carmel-by-the-Sea continues to amaze and delight me. Although there were only nine days before Christmas, both performances were sold out. These people surely love music and happily, they are the recipients of the best in music.

"Music of Christmas," as the concert was called, was arranged and achieved by a master musician, Haymo Taeuber, who not only conducted the orchestra and

Adm. Raymond A. Spruance

Area mourns Adm. Spruance

Admiral Raymond Ames Spruance, USN (Ret.), renowned WW II Naval leader, died at his Pebble Beach home last week at the age of 83, a victim of arteriosclerosis.

Adm. Spruance, born on July 3, 1886 in Baltimore, Md., was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1906, and retired in July 1948.

Naval historians credit Adm. Spruance with winning the battle of Midway, generally regarded as the turning point of the Pacific war.

Following Midway, Adm. Spruance was assigned as Chief of Staff to his close friend, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who said of Spruance, "His intellectual capacity and his judgment inspired confidence of all who served with him."

In August 1943, Adm. Spruance became Commander, Central Pacific Force, later known as the Fifth Fleet.

In the following months, he was in overall command during the occupation of the Filbert Islands (Nov. 1943); the invasion of the Marshalls (Jan. 1944); the capture of Saipan, Guam and Tinian in the Marianas, the Battle of the Philippine Sea (June 1944); and later, the capture of Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

Following his retirement, Adm. Spruance moved to Pebble Beach, until President Truman appointed him Ambassador to the Philippines in January 1952. He resigned three years later and returned to the Monterey Peninsula.

Following his "second retirement," the Admiral became active in community activities, including the USO, the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies, Navy League, and Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

Adm. Spruance is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Vance Dean of Indianapolis, and a daughter, Mrs. Gerard S. Bogart of Newport, R.I.

Musical Comments

By RACHEL MORTON
Music Critic

singers, but trained the 90-member chorus as well. Taeuber is also a genius in program-making, so it was no wonder he received a spontaneous standing ovation at the close of the concert.

There was a feast of Christmas carols of many lands in the first part of the program. The chorus sang a cappella "O Come All Ye Faithful," and "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming." Two Spanish Christmas carols of the 16th century were delightfully sung by chorus and soloists — one with bass solo to the accompaniment of a tambourine. The finest a cappella singing came with two beautiful German Christmas carols: "Geborn ist uns Emmanuel" by Praetorius and "Kommet ihr Hirten," a Moravian melody.

A Christmas Concerto, by Corelli played by the orchestra was not as effective as was the lovely music of Henry Purcell's Abdelazar Suite. Three French carols, sung in English, displayed some remarkable pianissimo singing, as well as some beautiful tonal blend.

After intermission came the great achievement of the evening, a marvelous performance of the Theresa Mass by Haydn which most certainly rank among his greatest works.

Although liturgical, the Mass is highly dramatic and full of grandeur. The chorus singing was thrilling. The orchestra rose to the high occasion with added winds and brass, while the soloists, Norma Jean Hodges, soprano; Glenna De Weese, contralto; Merle Moore, tenor and Christopher Hungerland, bass, contributed immeasurably to the success of the whole.

Norma Jean Hodges' clear soprano soared effortlessly above the massed ensemble; Glenna de Weese, rich contralto, was in fine control; Merle Moore possessed a full ringing tenor voice, while the gorgeous quality of Christopher Hungerland's basso, gave especial pleasure. All were excellent musicians.

A veritable "jubilate" Mass is the Theresa Mass. And how appropriate that it was given in the old Mission. Sung in Latin, the Kyrie, Gloria, Credo, Sanctus Benedictus and Agnus were all vividly revealed in their special moods by the chorus and soloists with splendid support by the orchestra. And the "Gloria in excelsis" was glory indeed in the highest!

Mrs. Carmel Ruth Moberg, a former Carmel resident, died last week in a San Francisco hospital after a period of failing health. She was 54.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Miss Moberg may do so to the Monterey Cancer Society, P.O. Box 1028.

What's doing?

If you're calling long distance to loved ones this season, remember that telephone lines can be overloaded during the holiday rush.

It's best to make sure you know the area code and the number ahead of time. Then dial the call yourself it's faster. And don't forget: every night, special late night rates from midnight to 7 AM allow you to dial direct station-to-station anywhere outside of California in the continental U.S.A. (except Alaska) for 75¢ or less for the first three minutes. For example, you can call when it's 6:30 AM here and it will be 8:30 AM in Chicago or 9:30 AM in New York.

You'll probably be doing some extra cleaning around the house during the holidays. And while you're sprucing up don't forget your telephone. Grime and smudges can be removed with a damp cloth. Harsh abrasives or cleansing powders only dull the surface. Now that phones come in so many beautiful colors they're an important home furnishing — so don't neglect yours!

I'm sure this will interest you who love to cook: An Official Cookbook to celebrate California's bicentennial featuring the state's foods and wines is now available for purchase $8.35 including sales tax. It has hundreds of recipes and is colorfully illustrated. For further information, or to order one, write: Official California Bicentennial Cookbook, P.O. Box 2366, San Francisco, California 94080.

Let us show you this comfortable 2 bedroom home in choice Hatton Fields which the owner will finance for you after a modest down payment. There are lovely trees on the large lot but you need not cultivate it all unless that's your thing. The patio is sunny and gives a splash of color for the whole house. At $29,500 you'll find it hard to beat. WE CAN'T!

IF you are not sure as to how the NEW TAX PROGRAM concerns you, your properties, and your investments -

IT WOULD BE WELL TO let us analyze your properties and see how they rate on today's demanding market.

Ambition, imagination, ingenuity and voila!... a new business

Christmas is a time for part-time employment, for any way to make a little money so Mom and Dad will be surprised by a present they didn't pay for.

A group of enterprising small-fry business tycoons in the Upper Carmel Valley have solved the problem.

Not counting the expenditure of a little time, which in a children's world is a mighty cheap commodity, the kids are reaping 100 percent profit from a roadside business.

Fal Farrington, 10, realized that leaves from the bay tree were used in cooking. She also knew that there were bay trees growing wild by the river.

Walnuts were in abundance, and people used pine cones in Christmas decorations, and there were plenty of those available near her Jamesburg home.

She and her friends set out to gather bay leaves, shuck the walnuts and select suitable pine cones.

A flat board, a piece of chalk, and a new business enterprise was in operation beside the Valley road.

By placing a fair price on their merchandise, Bari and Lisa Roberts, Erin Sullivan and Val are enjoying a success of their roadside business, netting about 40 cents a day apiece.

Mom and Dad will really be surprised.

CAREFUL SELECTION — Erin Sullivan, 10, selects only the tender, young leaves of the bay tree for sale to drive-up customers in the Carmel Valley's newest business venture. "The Roadside Specialty Store." Mary Roberts Photo

OOPS, FORGOT AN ITEM! — Val Farrington, entrepreneur and merchandising tycoon at 10, looks for a place on her sign for the "wallnuts" she and her friends will feature in their roadside variety store. The prices were established by a delicate weighing of the size of the item, its availability and processing problems. Val will have to do some chalk erasing to get those "wallnuts" on the sign.

FINANCIAL WIZARD — Lisa Roberts, 6, keeps a close check on the day's receipts. There is little difference between gross and net in this successful business, since overhead is practically nil. Out of the high rent district in Jamesburg, no utilities, and the merchandise is for the gathering, the girls just divide the total at the end of the day and split it four ways.

MINDING THE STORE — Bari Roberts, left, is 8, and her sister Lisa is six, and together they hold down a shift at the roadside business in which they are partners. The flowers add to the attractiveness of the store, and you couldn't find a more forceful, dramatic artful sign painter anywhere.

Kids study math for fun and prizes at River School

Math carnival for fifth grade

By JOANNE LOUISE NIX

Clowns, lions, jugglers, and games were all part of the fun at River school when the fifth grade students held a math carnival.

Games, displays and prizes were available in the fifth grade complex to delight and motivate the children while helping them review the basic concepts of arithmetic.

Mrs. Edwin McCurry, environmental specialist at River School, devised the plan for the fair and created the artwork and games.

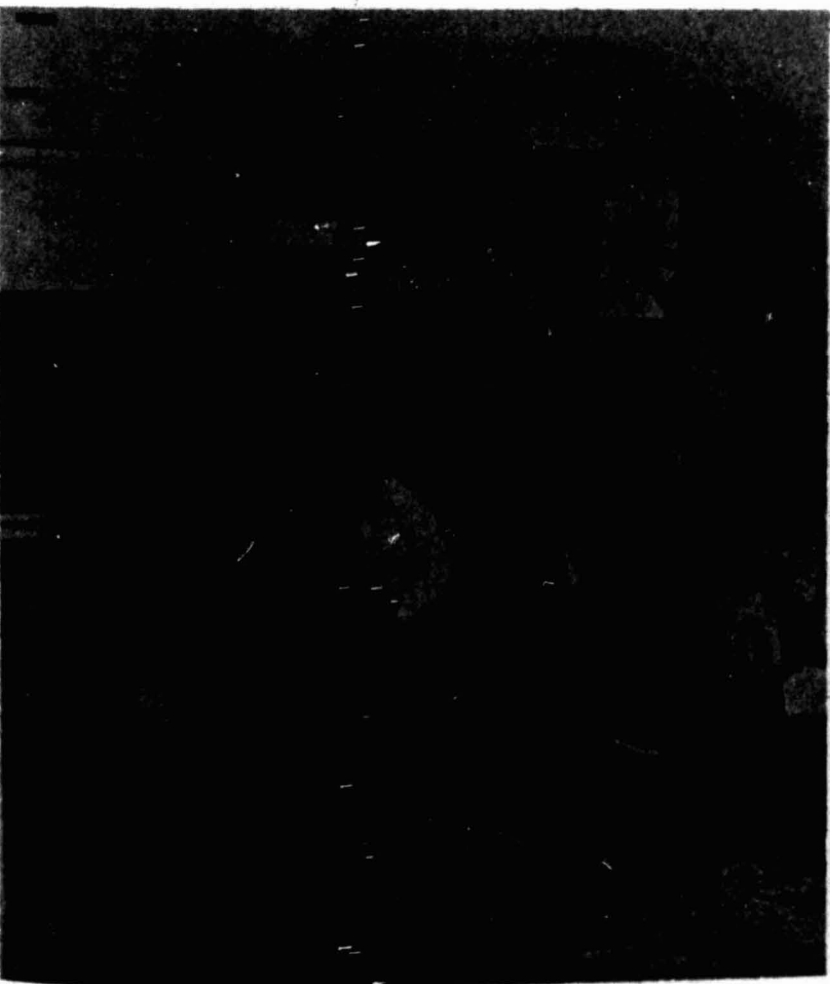

Teachers and parents worked together to supervise activities such as mathematical monopoly, a dart game, hot wheels racing and a treasure hunt.

The children had to be quick with the answers to gain points for prizes. The diversity of activities available gave every child a chance to compete for awards. The program was so successful that the fourth graders requested and received permission to hold their own math fair.

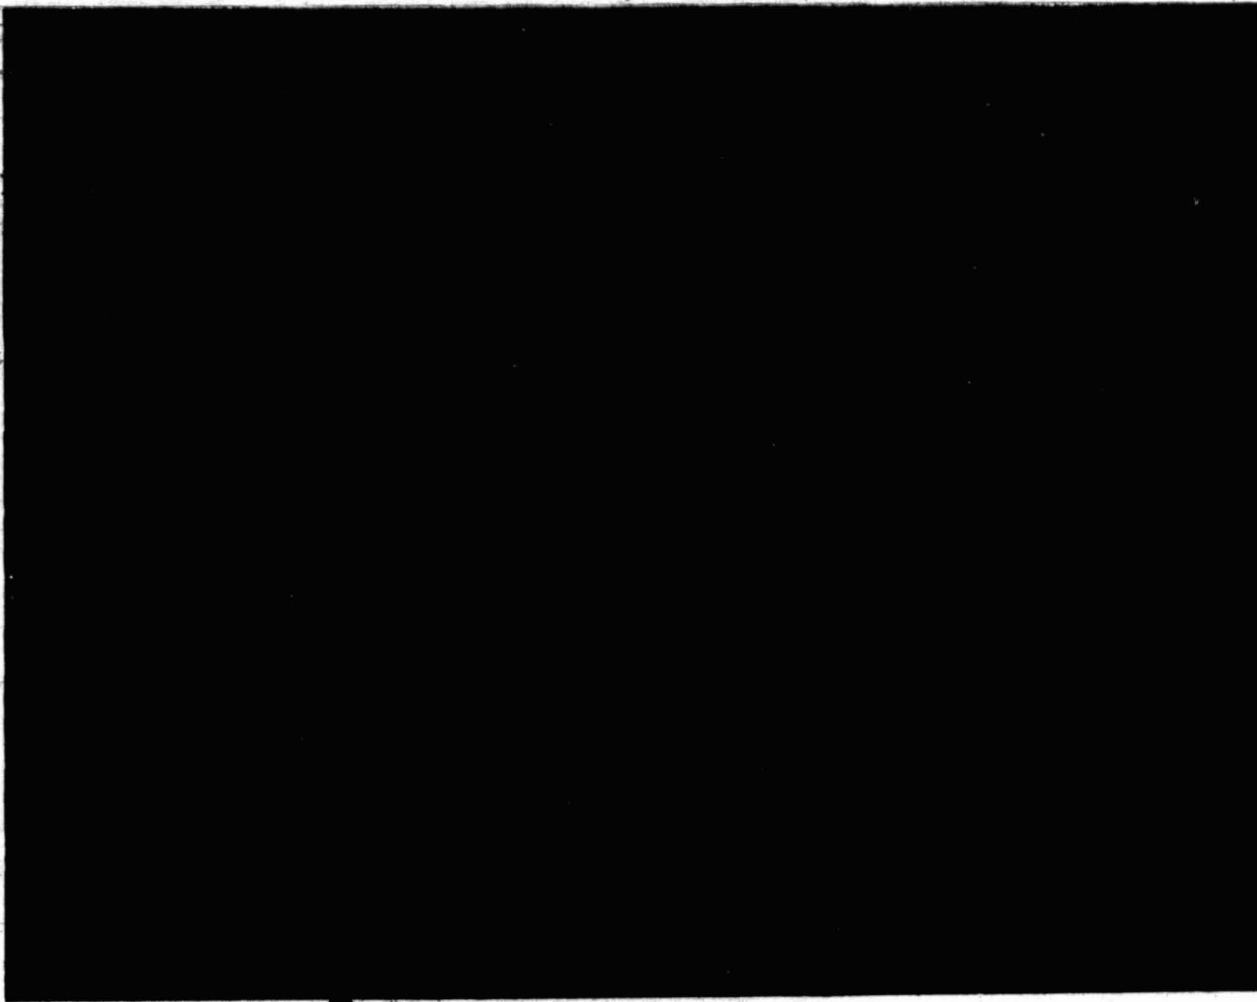

CONCLAVE AT THE ZOO

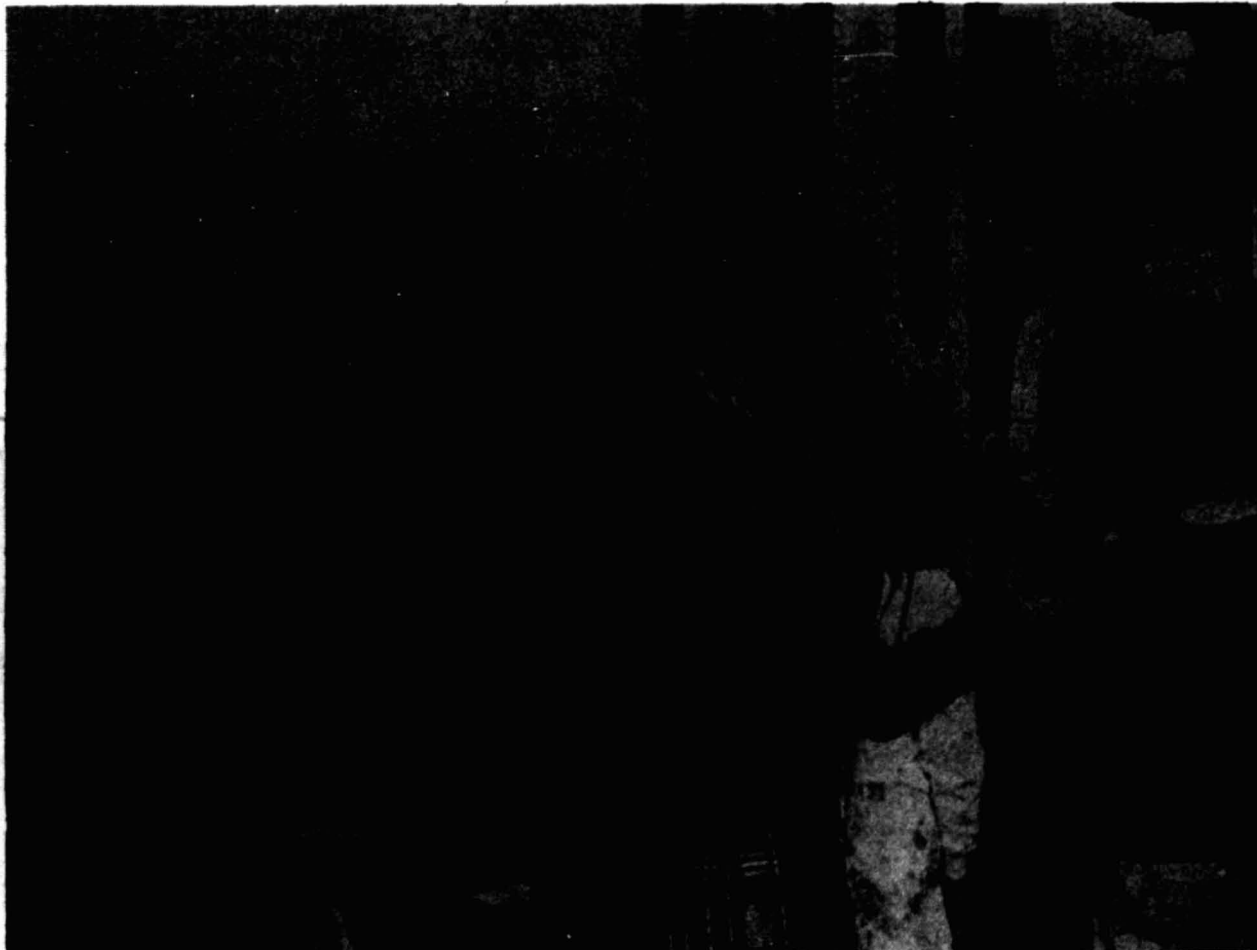

Mrs. L. Bruce Meyer explains to students the procedure of bidding on animals in the zoo. The students bid against one another for an animal. Then they draw a number and subtract it from their bid. If they find the difference correctly, they win a point.

MATHEMATICAL MUSICAL CHAIRS — Children have to be quick on their feet as well as up on their multiplication and division facts to play this game. When music stops the children stop at the nearest unoccupied combination. If they can answer it correctly they are in the game for another round. Just as in real musical chairs, contestants can also be eliminated by failing to find a place to stop. Children who are out can only stand and kibbitz until the next game.

HEIGH-HO, COME TO THE FAIR — The fifth grade children of River School enter their classroom to participate in a number carnival. The carnival, complete with displays, games, visual aids, life-size math problems and prizes, was designed to give each child a chance to practice problem solving techniques for fun and profit. The children played games of skill individually, against opponents or with teams to earn points and win prizes. The fair, which was held in the three rooms of the fifth grade complex, was planned and developed by River School's environmental specialist, Mrs. Edwin McCurry, who created the displays, did the artwork and recruited parents to supervise the action.

HOT WHEELS — Mickey Thayer, left, Mark McCurry and Dana Lawson battle for points in a game of "hot wheels". This is primarily a game of skill in which contestants roll their model autos down the table as far as possible in order to gain a high number of points. After scores were totaled in this round, Dana Lawson emerged as high point man.

X MARKS THE SPOT — While games of skill are played indoors, Karim Sadeghi, left, and Kipper Defaria hunt for buried treasure. The treasure hunters used maps on which clues were written in mathematical combinations. Several intrepid explorers ended up in the middle of an ice plant patch on a fruitless search for spoils, but these boys look only momentarily perplexed. High point winners for the entire fair were Joel Spenser and Guy Du Bets who each received a mouthwatering sweet treat for garnering the most points during the weeks activities. Other students in the school viewed the event with just a twinge of envy and as a result, the fourth graders had a chance to try their luck on Friday at the fair.

WHILE BACK AT THE ZOO — Jerrie Bauman, left, Ellen Taylor and Janice Luce brush up on their bidding and subtraction skills. By relating differences between quoted prices and discounts, the girls achieved an insight into practical business methods.

Cookery, carpentry, sewing, sculpture—all needed skills for Edyth Plamondon's trolls

The Dickensian caroling scene that graces the front page of this week's Pine Cone is the work of Carmel artist Edyth Plamondon, the Kodachrome color photograph by Roger Fremier.

Each of the figures is hand made on individual armatures, then painstakingly hand crafted and painted with a special paint developed by Miss Plamondon, and the entire scene finished with complete realism.

She uses special techniques of her own devising in the construction of her figures. Starting with such mundane objects as wire coathangers, she first makes an armature, or central skeleton of the figures, conforming to the general shape and position she has placed them in the sketch.

Now she tears newspapers into pieces, soaks them in a special formula, and molds them around her armatures until she gets "a good feeling" about the shape of the figure, then winds them with gummed paper tape so they hold their shape.

Now she starts building on the beefed-up skeleton with a formula of sawdust and flour, and when she has the body completed, she puts it in the oven and bakes it.

The hands and faces she makes separately, molding them roughly and larger than their finished size. She fills them out with water clay, then sculpts the features as she desires them.

The figures and the hands and face require considerable fine sanding, then she paints the entire figure with flat oil paints.

The costumes come next, then the exposed parts are painted with a special oil paint she makes and mixes herself to obtain the warm, realistic colors that are the hallmark of her figures.

She calls them "trolls."

Her wigs are all of human hair, and she dresses it as carefully as she works on the faces of her little figures to obtain just the precise expression she seeks.

Edyth Plamondon has lived in Carmel for the past 18 years. A creative, sensitive artist, she creates her little "trolls" because this is the art form that furnishes her the most satisfying form of expression and creativity.

She had done two Christmas scenes — this bit of nostalgia from the Victorian age, and a creche "The Nativity." She has given them to the Harrison Memorial Library, where they can be seen on alternate years.

Of course, she has done others, and has been successful in her creations, had to appoint a business agent, Research to Reality, Inc., in Salinas.

However, anyone who would like a commercial display, a window scene, or any device using these clever, authentic figures can call Miss Plamondon at her studio, 624-1167, or write her at PO Box 1591, Carmel.

CAROLS IN THE SNOW — The main body of our cover picture shows the subtle nuances of facial expression Miss Plamondon captures. The women's millinery, muffs, the frog-design holding the coat of the lady on the left — all are the result of countless hours of research. Completion the entire tableau occupied more than 500 hours of the artist's time. The Pine Cone expresses its gratitude to Miss Plamondon for permission to use these pictures. All photographs are by Roger Fremier.

ACCOMPANIST — The delicate fingers of the fiddler in the cover group, the tracery of the veins on the back of the musician's hand, the patch on the elbow of his coat, the period "beaver" hat, all attest to the artistry of Edyth Plamondon.

INTRICATE DETAIL — Edyth Plamondon brings an amazing detail to her trolls. In making this tiny figure, Miss Plamondon built the miniature sled the boy sits on, she actually baked the loaf of bread in the basket from sawdust and flour, and the clothing on the awe-struck little tyke is authentic in every detail.
